This map booklet shows Devon's 188km Coast to Coast route, which combines the well-established Two Moors Way between Ivybridge and Lynmouth with the Erme–Plym Trail, starting (or finishing) at Wembury in the South Devon AONB. Split into 11 stages of between 10 and 30km, the route crosses Dartmoor and Exmoor and gives the walker a wonderful long-distance walk across England's southwest peninsula.

This booklet of Ordnance Survey 1:25,000 Explorer maps has been designed for convenient use on the trail. It shows the full route along with an extract from the OS Explorer map legend. It can be used when walking the route in either direction. Conveniently sized for slipping into a jacket pocket or top of a rucksack, it provides all the mapping needed to complete the walk.

An accompanying Cicerone guidebook – The Two Moors Way / 9781852849917 – describes the full route with lots of other practical and historical information, for those who prefer a written guide. NOTE: The accompanying guidebook includes a copy of this map booklet.

Key marketing points

- Convenient booklet of OS mapping covering the entire route
- Useful for groups of walkers

About the author

After gaining a degree in Geography and Archaeology at Exeter University Sue Viccars worked for a London map publisher before grabbing the chance to return to Devon, where she spent 20 years commissioning walking, equestrian and countryside books for David & Charles Publishers. She received her first walking book commission three weeks after going freelance in 2000 and since then has written or contributed to around 20 books (and edited dozens more), specialising in her home territory of southwest England, with particular reference to Dartmoor and Exmoor. She writes the walks for Exmoor: the country magazine, and has been editor of Dartmoor Magazine since 2008.
