The Queyras is a dramatic, unspoilt region of the French Alps, between the Durance Valley and the Italian border, in the shadow of the mighty Monte Viso. Sheltered to the west by the high peaks of the Écrins, it is one of the sunniest areas of the Alps, a mass of alpine flowers early in the season. The absence of glaciers makes it ideal hillwalking country, with several high mountain summits accessible to the ordinary walker and scrambler. One of France's best kept secrets!

The Tour of the Queyras offers high-level, but generally moderate-grade mountain walking, along the GR 58 and GR 541 trails. In all, twenty-four cols above 2000m are crossed, with options to climb up to seventeen summits of varying difficulty, five of which are above the magic 3000m altitude.

- Route described in twelve stages, with an optional one-day excursion – suitable for a two-week mountain walking holiday.
- Details of facilities en route, including a baggage transfer service and accommodation in gîtes and refuges, allowing easy booking.
- Several alternative routes and excursions described, allowing for flexibility.
- Ideal as a first-time alpine walking tour, but with more challenging alternatives suitable for the experienced.
