Guidebook to walking the 94 mile Kennet and Avon Canal in 7 day-long stages. 20 circular walks are also included, taking in the best sections of the canal. The guidebook takes you on a fascinating journey across southern England, following a major transport route that was built over 200 years ago during the heyday of British canals.

The route passes through a diverse and varied landscape, including the chalk hills of the North Wessex Downs AONB in the east, Crofton Pumping Station, the impressive Caen Hill flight of locks at Devizes, aqueducts at Avoncliff and Dundas, the southern edge of the Cotswolds AONB, the City of Bath UNESCO World Heritage Site and Bristol's vibrant Floating Harbour.

The guidebook describes easy walking on mostly good paths and tracks through fairly low-level terrain along the canal. The day walks range from 4¼ to 9 miles: these include more ascents and descents than the canal path, but should still be suitable for most walkers.

Key marketing points

- Two guides in one - walk the canal end to end from Reading to Bristol or choose to follow the 20 circular walks
- Easy access points using public transport (for most but not all walks)

About the author

Steve Davison is a writer and photographer who has lived in Berkshire for over 25 years. He has written a number of books as well as articles for magazines and national and local newspapers, specialising in hill-walking and UK and European travel, and counts nature, geology and the countryside among his particular interests.
