National Trails criss-cross Britain and delve into some of the most stunning landscapes on offer. From the ultra-long South West Coast Path and Southern Uplands Way, to the white cliffs walking of the South Downs Way, the Roman remains of the Hadrian's Wall Path and wild walking of the West Highland Way, there are trekking opportunities for beginners to experienced walkers, all on clear trails and well signposted paths.

As well as whetting the appetites of any adventurer, this guidebook also provides background information on the evolution of the National Trails network, the sights to be seen on each walk and advice on how to prepare for a National Trail.
