This guidebook contains 40 walking routes and 10 cycleways, exploring all parts of County Durham, totaling 720 kilometres (447 miles). Routes cover wild moorlands, gentle countryside, riverside walks, nature reserves, heritage sites, railway paths and a low cliff coast. Roman forts, ancient churches and castles are found in a rich, varied and wonderfully scenic landscape. Solid stone villages encircle extensive greens, while on the high Pennines, vast tracts of moorland are now designated as 'open access'.

County Durham lies between two mighty rivers - the Tyne to the north and the Tees to the south. The county stretches from the high Pennines in the west to a low cliff coast in the east. Long settled by man, the area has in recent years completely transformed itself as its traditional industries have closed.
