Boasting magnificent mountain scenery, picturesque villages and a rich and fascinating history, it is little surprise that Spain's Andalucía has long been popular with visitors. This long-distance walk from the Mediterranean to the Atlantic showcases some of the best the region has to offer. Devised with the aim of linking the two great seas that cradle Andalucía, the 420km route crosses the heart of the southern Spain, from the small coastal village of Maro to Bolonia beach, a day's walk from the bustling port of Tarifa.

The waymarked route is presented in 21 day stages, each with clear route description and mapping. The introduction includes all the practical information needed to plan and execute a successful trip, with advice on when to go, transport, accommodation and food, and useful contacts and a Spanish-English glossary can be found in the appendices.

The route passes through six beautiful Natural Parks as it follows the Penibetic mountain range across the provinces of Málaga, Granada and Cádiz. The scenery is diverse, ranging from mountain views to dramatic gorges, wild valleys and cultivated fruit groves, with other highlights including Moorish Ronda, Roman ruins at Bolonia and the traditional 'pueblos blancos' (white villages).
